Last spring it seemed advisable to make a change in the conduct of affairs at the Almshouse, and we secured the services of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hammond as Master and Matron, and we think the Almshouse has been conducted in a creditable manner and for the interests of the town. The average number of inmates gives 128 weeks for one person, against 112 1-7 the average of last year—making the cost per week for each inmate $5.63. Only two persons have been supported the entire year. During the year 729 tramps were lodged and fed for which no credit has been taken, and it seems to us but fair and equitable that the expense thus incurred should be placed to the credit of this account. Your attention is also called to the report for the support of the poor out of the Almshouse.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED H. FOWLER, JULIUS GUILD, CHAS. H. HARTSHORN,

Office of the Selectmen, Town Hall, Walpole, Mass., January 31,, 1893.

We have this day examined the accounts of the Treasurer for the year ending December 31, 1892, and find them correct and properly vouched.

Auditors.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

To the Selectmen of the Town of Walpole:

In accordance with the requirements of Chap. 195, Acts of 1892, I was appointed "Inspector of Provisions and of Animals intended for slaughter or kept for the production of milk."

I have the honor to present the following report: I have examined in Walpole, 670 cattle; 476 of these cows giving I have found most of them up to the standard, and when any suspicious case did exist owners were generally willing to dispose of them. Now they know the inspector will be around again to see them no doubt they will try to get rid of animals they know are not all right. It is undoubtedly true that no small amount of tubercular consumption, especially in children, is due to milk from unhealthy cows. Everyone should know the importance of clean, healthy cattle and well ventilated stables if they wish for healthy food. When we consider the close relations that exist between people and their cattle, how great the dependence of the human race upon the bovine for their products which are used as food; how disease may be transmitted from one person to another, or from animal to person; when people think and know these facts, then then they will realize the importance of an organized system of food inspection, and will know the importance of well ventilated stables and good healthy cows for the production of milk.

We look very carefully after the sanitary condition of our houses, why not after our stables where so large a part of our food comes from? I am proud to say that when in Boston at headquarters I was told that milk from Walpole on several examinations was found to be fully up to the average. It seems very important another season that our Board of Health should be on the lookout that Walpole does not lose any of its present good name and credit.

Very respectfully,

JASON LEWIS,

WALPOLE, Jan. 30, 1893.

Inspector.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF WALPOLE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Once more it becomes the duty of the Trustees to make their Annual reports of the Public Library.

Another year proves that the Library is an institution well approved and appreciated by the citizens of the town.

Whole number of persons taking books, 781
Number of new persons, 151
Total circulation, 18564

Fiction, 69 per cent., magazines, 13 per cent., others, 18 per cent.

The largest circulation was in March, and the smallest in August.

New books added during the year, 205

During the past year, the Library has received donations from its friends:

Mr. Geo. A. Plimpton has presented "Pool's Index to Periodical's" in 3 volumes, which is very useful, as our magazines of today contain many valuable articles, any of which may be easily referred to by the use of the Index.

Hon. F. W. Bird, has presented "Life of Lincoln,"

"Butler's Book," 1 vol.

Miss Mary R. Bird, 100 book dummies. basket and cover.

Friends,— One week's work on card catalogue by Miss Merrill.

Mr. H. L. Gordon, poems, I vol. Souvenir Co., I vol.

The "Social Economist" was donated for the year 1892.

Thanks are due to the publishers of the "Dedham Transcript," "Walpole Star," "Central Norfolk Democrat," and "Norwood Advertiser" and "Review" for copies of their papers, and also to the publishers of the "Central Norfolk Democrat" for printing supplement to the catalogue.

The following persons have responded to the call for Town Reports:

Mrs. Loring Johnson,

Mrs. Henry M. Plimpton,

Mr. T. A. Barrett, Mr. John Early,

Mr. J. G. Hartshorn.

The Library and its patrons have been faithfully attended to by Miss Gough, the efficient librarian.

It is with much regret that the trustees have been obliged to receive the resignation of Mrs. M. E. Pickering as a member of the board. Mrs. Pickering has been a member for five years, and much of the success of the Library has been due to her, being deeply interested in literature, and of excellent judgement in library matters, and having done a very large amount of work on the Library, her loss to the board and the public can hardly be estimated.

For the coming year, the trustees would respectfully request that the sum of seven hundred dollars be appropriated for the use of the Library, as more books should be added, the purchase of which has been limited on account of expenditures for insurance and other necessary items.

Respectfully submitted for the trustees,
HORACE C. METCALF.

Chairman.

Report of School Committee.

To the Citizens of Walpole:

The School Board respectfully submit herewith their report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1892.

ORGANIZATION.

After the March meeting, your board met and organized for the year, electing Robert S. Gray, chairman, and Frederick Guild, secretary. The terms of office of James B. Lewis and Walter B. Allen expire with the coming March meeting and you will be required to elect to the School Board, two members for three years.

SUPERINTENDENT.

The district formed under the law, relating to the Superintendent of Schools, consisting of the towns of Walpole and Franklin, expired April 1. Franklin having increased its valuation to that extent that it was excluded from employing a superintendent under the district plan, a new district was formed by the union of Walpole, Foxboro, and Norfolk, and our former superintendent, Mr. Frank W. Sweet, was elected Superintendent of Schools of Franklin.

At a joint meeting of the School Committees of the new district held in April, Mr. A. F. Gilbert, of Malden, was elected superintendent, but declined to accept. At another meeting held in June, Mr. J. R. Potter from Ashland, formerly Superintendent of the Schools of Ashland and Hopkinton, was elected as superintendent, to commence his duties with the Fall term.

SOUTH SCHOOL ALTERATIONS.

The special appropriation made at the tast March meeting for the alteration of the South school house, has been expended in enlarging the primary room, by making an addition of 12 feet in width, also a cloak room, 10 feet square. It is now one of the best rooms for school purposes.

REPAIRS.

During the summer vacation, the Centre school building was painted one coat as a matter of economy. At the East school, a much needed new fence has been built. On account of the opening of the new street at the East, the expense of fencing the school yard was over $100 less than was anticipated, also the bill for painting the Centre school house building was not as large as was expected. We are therefore, able to report a large unexpended balance of the appropriation for repairs.

TRANSPORTATION.

After the opening of the East Walpole branch of the Old Colony Railroad, it was the intention of the committee to have all the pupils living in the out-lying districts that desired transportation to the High school, to come by railroad, as all the districts except the Bubbling Brook were fairly well accommodated that way. Finding that we had one pupil from the Bubbling Brook district, we contracted with Mr. M. F. Whitney to bring by carriage that pupil and eight others from the North district, at the same rate it would cost the town to convey by railroad. It is uncertain whether we shall be able to continue this arrangement after this term, but we have made our estimate of $400, with that in view, which will be sufficient if it can be continued.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the School Committee of Walpole:

GENTLEMEN:

I have the honor of submitting to you the report of the schools for the present year, which forms at the same time, the eighth of the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of Schools in this town.

I desire at the outset to express my appreciation of the encouragement and support of your board, of the hearty co-operation of the teachers and of the kindness and courtesy of the citizens of Walpole. Most of the Autumn term has been spent in the careful study of the condition of your schools. It was necessary to learn the chief characteristics of each school, its excellencies and deficiencies, its difficulties and advantages. No radical changes have been made in organization, in the courses of study, or in the methods of teaching. Some suggestions of changes and improvements will be made in this report.

The table of statistics from the school register will be found at the end of this report.

CHANGES.

At the close of the Spring term, Mr. Elmer H. Brackett resigned the Principalship of the High school to accept a more lucrative position in Canton. At the same time, the resignations of Misses Eva E. Hall, Lila H. Lowe and Edna F. Grant, were received. These vacancies were filled by the election of Mr. C. F. Harper, as principal of the High school, Miss Anna G. Welch, a Bridgewater graduate, for the East grammar school, and Miss Karoline M. Knudsen for the South grammar school. Miss Lena M. Allen, a graduate of our High school, who had taken work in the training class, was placed in charge of the East primary school.

TEACHERS.

The character and work of the school depend upon the character and ability of the teacher. In order to train the child's mental powers and give him such physical care as will result in a sound body, the teacher needs to know in addition to the various subjects taught, the elements of Psychology and Physiology, and the laws of mental and physical development. Moral training must be given in the schools. "The teacher," says Dr. Balliet, "must above all else, be not merely a person of good morals, but a person of force of character, of depth of feeling, and of high purpose." The example and influence of the teacher are all-powerful. The young people who surround him are unsuspecting and imitative. What legislation can correct the teacher's mistakes? "The teacher," says Wickersham, "should be a model man,—a model in manners, a model in scholarship, a model in virtue."

The town is to be congratulated on account of its earnest and efficient body of teachers.

TEACHER'S MEETINGS.

Weekly meetings of the teachers have been held during the Autumn term. The purpose of these gatherings is to bring all of the schools into harmony, to arouse professional enthusiasm, to give encouragement and sympathy in the work, to furnish an opportunity to compare methods and devices for the class room, to enable each teacher to contribute suggestive thoughts gained in reading educational books and periodicals, to present the principles underlying discipline, to study the laws of physical, mental and moral development, and the methods of awakening interest and securing attention. It is important that the work should be adapted to the child's capacity, hence the careful study of child nature is emphasized. The different branches of study in the schools are studied in outline, the aim of each presented, the powers of mind to be trained are indicated and the methods and appliances to be employed are examined.

ATTENDANCE.

The names of 545 pupils are found on the registers. We have an average number of only 421 attending school. A large number (124) of children are not continuously receiving the advantages of our schools. Many of these may be between 5 and 8 years of age or above 14, so that they cannot be reached by the present laws. The average membership is 421, but the average daily attendance only 377. Hence, 44 pupils or about 10 per cent of the number belonging are absent every day. Perhaps much of this absence may be due to sickness or other unavoidable causes. Is there not too much waste in this direction? Can the town afford to sustain schools at so great expense and allow one tenth of the pupils to neglect their opportunities? The number of cases of tardiness (530) is eight larger than last year. Those children who are kept out, not only disturb the school, interfere with the systematic work of the teacher and learn less of arithmetic, geography, and the various branches taught, but what is far worse, they are forming bad habits. Children are in the formative period and should acquire habits of punctuality, regularity and perseverance, without which they are poorly equipped for the duties of life.

Although the young should have certain duties to perform in the home, they should feel an obligation resting upon them to attend school. To secure the best results school officers, teachers, and parents should heartily co-operate.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

There is a demand on the part of many parents, that the course be broadened and made more thorough. To meet this demand, it has been determined to begin the more distinctively High school studies the first year. Accordingly the present entering class has begun Latin. It is designed that the new order of things shall be introduced within a year. Some have asked for an opportunity to begin Greek in the High school. If a sufficient number desire, would it not be well to give one year of work in Greek? In order that the work in Physics may be most valuable, certain apparatus is indispensable. Twenty-five per cent of the Massachusetts School Fund has been devoted to the purchase of apparatus to aid in teaching electricity, heat and light. Another year, we hope to add to our supply an air pump, a small dynamo and an Atwood's machine. The past term has been marked by earnest work and steady progress. The aim should be to make the pupils original investigators and to lead them to re-discover the various truths recorded in their text books. A course of study should be so arranged that the majority of the pupils should be well grounded in the mother tongue, in mathematics, in the sciences and in some modern language. There should be an extended course in English Composition and reading from the English Classics.

WORK OF SUPERINTENDENT.

Since the opening of the Autumn term, most of the time not devoted to the details connected with the office, has been devoted to visiting schools. It is possible to reach each school once in three or four weeks, in some cases more frequently.

The object of visiting and inspecting the schools, is to discover and introduce elements of unity, to make their work more practical, to lead the teachers to present in an attractive manner the knowledge which the pupils need to use every day, to broaden and strengthen the work by suggestions, conversation, or examination, to elevate the tone of the school and not merely to discover and expose petty defects. Children should be led to have high ideals of the work and should gain correct views as to absence and tardiness, as to their duties to the teacher, other pupils and themselves and as to their obligation to use with care the buildings, text books and appa-Another aim in supervision has been to improve the character of the teaching. The attention of teachers has been directed to the lines of work that are important in language, reading, writing, number, and other branches. All are encouraged to study the individual pupil in order that they may secure attention, arouse interest and adapt the work to his capacity. In the performance of these duties, my work has been made pleasant by the co-operation and help of the teachers.

TEXT BOOKS.

The great work of the school should be to enable a child to use books properly. While in the past, too much has been expected of text books, in recent times there seems to have been a tendency to go to the opposite extreme and do away with them, making the teaching almost wholly oral. Oral teaching should precede the use of the book, but when the child is prepared to use the book rightly he should be required to depend upon himself and not upon the teacher to interpret it. Many pupils on entering the High School are unable to use text books to advantage. During the Autumn term, Potter's geography was introduced in exchange for the old books, which were in very bad condition. An elementary geography has been provided for the fourth year pupils, and possibly it may be desirable to begin the use of the book in the third year. An elementary composition and grammar has been placed in the seventh and eighth grades. Physiologies have been procured for the two upper Grammar Grades and several sets of readers have been secured for the lower grades. We should have a supply of new books in Arthmetic to take the place of the old and badly torn ones. An additional supply of material for sight reading and for introducing pupils to classic literature will be needed. We should cultivate a taste and desire on the part of the pupils for good, strong, and healthful reading and thus lead them to avoid that which gives false ideas of life.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

During the month of September, an interesting and suggestive meeting of the Institute was held in the High school room. The principles under-lying good teaching were presented by Secretary John W. Dickinson. The work in drawing in the public schools was illustrated by Mr. Henry T. Bailey in his inimitable manner. Mr. Arthur C. Boyden clearly presented methods of introducing nature studies and Mr. John T. Prince gave helpful and suggestive hints on teaching language. The teachers were all greatly benefitted by this meeting.

PUBLIC MEETINGS.

On the evening before the Institute, Dr. Mayo of Boston delivered in the Town Hall, a practical and stimulating address on education. The Superintendent hopes to hold, at least one public meeting each term. The purpose of these gatherings is to meet the patrons and especially the mothers, in order to enlist their interest more fully in the education of the children. Success in life depends upon the proper training of the senses, a training which must begin in the home. The accuracy of the memory and the precision of the judgment depend upon the distinctness of the perceptions. Thus a child who sees imperfectly cannot reason justly about the objects of sight. Children are interested in objects. Curiosity prompts them to ask many questions. Parents and teachers should take advantage of this propensity and lead the young to form habits of accurate observation and train the powers to compare and judge. Books cannot do this. It must be done by the mothers and primary teachers. Some of the senses receive so little attention that they fail to attain to full activity. Many children are called dull and stupid because they have not been trained to receive sounds rapidly and clearly. All of the senses should receive due attention. That the education of the child may be continuous and progressive, a large part of the work must be done by the mother in the home. The children are under the direct influence of the school only a small part of the time. Parents and teachers should work together in securing such conditions and surroundings as to encourage all right tendencies and to check the wrong. If the children could enter the schools with the proper home training of the senses, much greater progress would be observed at once. Home training should not cease when the school begins its work, but it should supplement and make more comprehensive the work begun by the teacher.

COLUMBUS DAY.

In conjunction with the schools through the country, Columbus Day was observed by appropriate exercises in our schools. Through the exertions of the pupils in the out-lying districts, flags were secured and raised on that day. The Grand Army Post of Walpole aided in observing the day. While it is well to exhibit the symbols of patriotism, a great responsibility rests upon the teachers to lead the children to understand the true meaning of the flag and to train them for the intelligent performance of their duties as citizens. Systematic work in Civics should be introduced into every grade.

PHYSICAL AND MANUAL TRAINING.

The ancient Greeks understood the meaning of a sound body for a sound mind. Where physical and manual training have been introduced into the school system, the interest has been increased and more satisfactory work performed. Our children compete in the practical affairs of life with those who are better equipped for work. They are thus placed at a disadvantage. Let us hope that some public spirited citizen will equip and furnish a gymnasium and shop and thus confer a benefit upon the rising generation. Any system of education which neglects to develop the physical nature and to train the hands to be skillful in execution is one-sided and incomplete. The results of failing to provide physical training are seen if we consider the tendencies toward partial and unequal development which is found in the majority of individuals, as shown by the contracted chest, projecting shoulder blades, the hips pushed forward or one shoulder and hip higher than the other. Poor digestion also often results from the want of exercise.

SINGING.

The ability to sing well is of great value. As a school exercise, singing gives an opportunity to train the attention, to arouse interest when children are tired and restless, to train the vocal organs, to develop lung capacity and to cultivate a taste for the true and beautiful. Would it not be wise to authorize the school committee to use the unexpended balance of the support of schools account in introducing singing during the coming year?

CONSOLIDATION.

During the past year, we paid for the services of teachers and janitors in the grades below the High school, $11.87 per pupil (at the centre), while in the other schools, $13.90 per pupil. At the Centre school with two exceptions each room has two grades, the other schools from three to eight. An examination of the daily programs shows that the upper grades at the Centre devote from 30 to 40 minutes to each recitation in the principal subjects and in the lower grades from 15 to 20 minutes, (two exercises being given each day). In the out-lying schools the recitation is generally from 10 to 15 minutes in length. In some work two or more classe are combined and general exercises are given to all together. After making all possible combinations, the number of recitations is from 15 to 20 each day. As the time is so limited, only short lessons can be recited. Consequently, it is difficult for teachers to give sufficient work to keep all of the pupils busy. Thus many do not form habits of industry and cannot have the enthusiasm and interest they would if driven to the utmost. The result is much mischief, idleness, tardiness and absence.

The problem which we have to solve is how to secure the best and equal educational privileges for all children in town. Concord, Lexington and some other towns have solved this problem by consolidation. All pupils are brought to one centre. Drawing, singing, manual and physical training can then be introduced just as successfully as in the larger towns and cities. Better results have been secured in attendance, in mental, moral and social attainments. Should we not investigate this matter with impartiality and find a way to remove these inequalities in the cost of maintaining the schools and in the results obtained? It rests with the citizens to adopt such a policy as to secure to all equal rights and to furnish such conditions as to render the school management and supervision most effective.

MEETINGS OF COMMITTEES AND SUPERINTENDENTS.

An important movement has been started by Mr. John T. Prince, agent of the Board of Education, in calling together the committees and superintendents of several adjacent towns for the purpose of considering and discussing matters relating to school organization, school law, employment of teachers, duties of committees and superintendents and other subjects of school economy.

The first meeting was held in the High School room in Walpole, December 16, 1892. Representatives from Norwood, Medfield, Franklin, Foxboro and Walpole were present. The chief topics discussed were school attendance and the duties of the Superintendent. An organization was effected and the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the president and agent of the Board of Education. Great good may be expected from this interchange of views and the discussions of the principles of school management.

I take this opportunity to thank the teachers of Walpole for their loyalty and faithfulness. I am confident that our schools deserve the earnest support of all classes of our citizens, in order that they may be sustained and improved and made to furnish this community the best and equal education for all its children.

Respectfully submitted,

J. R. POTTER,

Superintendent of Schools.
